FABRIC INDEX

The fabrics we use at Psylo have been chosen with extreme consciousness. To help you understand better what each fabric is, please refer to the following descriptions…

Rayon
A semi synthetic cellulose fiber mainly made from wood pulp. Also known by the name viscose and art silk.

Modal
A bio-based fiber made with cellulose from Beech trees (modal is essentially a variety of rayon.)

Spandex
A synthetic fiber known for its exceptional elasticity. It is stronger and more durable than rubber. Also known as elastin or lycra.

Chiffon
a lightweight, sheer silky fabric, looks like a fine net or mesh, made out of silk.

Slub
Lumps or uneven thickness of yarn, which gives an irregular texture on fabric surface.

Rayon modal stretch
45% Rayon 45% Modal 10% spandex. The combination of the 3 gives a thin, soft and silky fabric, with a prolonged elasticity.

Cotton modal stretch
45% Cotton 45% Modal 10% spandex. The combination of this 3 results in a thicker fabric, but still soft with a durable elasticity and velvety touch.

Rayon cotton slub
65% rayon 20s 35% cotton 30s, jersey knit with a slub texture*.

Hand knitted fabric 2 x ply
Hand knitted with traditional manual machine, 2 yarn in each knit. Acrylic 73% Nylon 27%.

Hand knitted fabric 1 x ply
Same as above, but with 1 yarn in each knit, so it's thinner.

CVC cotton slub double knit
A double layer of internal cotton and external Polyester with a slub texture, knitted together. C.65% P.35%

Rib stretch slub
Rib fabric made of rayon 45% cotton 45% spandex 10% with a slub texture to it.

Rayon shiny stretch
90% rayon (processed until shiny) 10% Spandex

Thin cotton pinstripe
100% cotton dobby with a stamped pinstripe texture.

Thick velvet stretch
Cotton CVC with a velvety texture C.80% P.20%

Cotton pointel
Knitted jersey fabric with floral pattern stamped on the surface.

Cotton double knit
A form of knitting with two yarn on one pair of needles. The fabrics are inseparable, with closely interlocked stitches that allow it to stretch.

Double layered cotton
2 layers of thin woven 100% cotton connected together with pinstriped stitching.

Poly silk marvel
100% woven polyester processed to gain the smoothness and shininess of silk satin.
